The process

Dirox Digitization Service provides comprehensive support for the conversion of all your type of documents, including:

- 1 Preparation
- 2 Digitization
- 3 Improvement & Conversion
- 4 Data capture & Hosting

A secure environment process all through your project

- Consulting — We identify your needs and the intended use of your documents that we turn into digitizing objectives by expressing requirement specifications for your specific context.
- Preparation — Documents are prepared for an optimal scanning result and according to the specifications.
- Digitization — We use a broad range of professional scanners adapted to all document types, from regular paper documents to old books to engineering drawings.
- Conversion — Images are converted to the most suitable format (TIFF, JPG, PDF), based on the document type and on the intended use.
- Image optimization — Images are optimized, with advanced digital correction software, to support your viewing, storage, and production requirements, and to provide the best quality for the smallest file size.
- Data capture — Data capture can be coupled to an indexing/ encoding process in order to give you an immediate and easy access to the documents you search.
- Custom software development — Our software engineers can develop custom document management solutions to match your business needs.
- Delivery — Final data are then delivered on the most suitable support.

Based on our experience providing these services, our approach is to listen to the customer, find and propose the most adapted solution matching his needs, and use innovative technologies and skilled work force.

During two years, we have been in charge of large scale digital conversion projects for the libraries of Vietnam and for national scientific newspapers. This experience confirmed us as a leading provider of innovative solutions for the scanning of rare, fragile, original and often unique books and maps in Vietnam.
